Boston Leather was incorporated in Chicago in 1938. When the Valentino family purchased Boston Leather in 1991, their core market quickly grew into leather accessories for law enforcement and fire personnel.

Boston Leather moved their operation to Sterling, Illinois in 1998, taking with them 15 dedicated employees. Today, the company has grown to 45 full-time employees. Boston Leather stood the test of time by remaining committed to domestic manufacturing, using leather from only U.S. tanneries.

With the development of the 1801 Line of belts, Boston Leather expanded into other markets like Big and Tall, Automotive, Workwear, and Outdoor Wear. Offering this casual line of belts was a way to provide high quality leather fashion-designed belts at affordable prices. Boston Leather belts are comfortable, long-lasting, very strong, and good looking. Let your next belt be a Boston Leather belt.
